

TOXIC BOSS

LAURA MORRISSEY

Toxic Boss

Many people have worked for a boss or with colleagues that have made them feel that they are not good at their job...without foundation.

Sometimes you have to stay in that role due to the fact that you needed a job. This is real life. We work to put a roof over our heads, food on the table.

Work is not a luxury for many.

People tend to leave a boss not necessarily their job role. Feeling that leaving is the only option, better to get out, even to a less well paid job than stay. For some, their hand is forced.

Once the move is made and the boss/relationship is in the past, then all is well? Surely?

Not Necessarily! Sometimes the effects linger..
